

The Willow Window

Dear Willow families,

It has been a week of creativity in the willow room! On Monday the Willows were hard at work with puff ball painting. They took cotton balls and attached them to clothespins and created a brush to dot the leaves onto the branches. We used shades of yellow and red to celebrate the beautiful colors of autumn.

Tuesday was tie-dye day! Truthfully I have never tie-dyed with children this age before and was curious to see how it would go. As always I was delightfully surprised with the ease in which our class adapts to new activities and their excitement with trying new things. The class especially enjoyed choosing their colors and being able to put the dye all over their item. When it was Serena's turn to tie-dye the pants she brought she sat down and said, "I really want pink pants! Oh and green too!" I watched as she was so careful with the color and took her time deciding where the pink and green should go. As she finished up her pants she had a big smile on her face and said, "These are great!"

By far my favorite part of the week though was introducing one of my favorite toys Mr.Potato head! On Thursday we put out our new friend and Mr.Potato head was so popular that we gave each child a turn to create their own Potato head and give him a name. The results are below!

Henry: Tubi

Curtis: Mr.Potato

Serena: Pete The

Vail: James

Christian: Singer

Juniper: Juni

Clara: TBD (She was having too much fun playing!)

Jamie: Monster

I hope you all have a fantastic weekend and I will see you all next week!

Love,

Teacher Emma
